A senior citizen female brings in the mail and opens a business-looking envelope. She looks inside it, confused, and turns it upside down to see if anything falls out. It's empty. Close up of a medical bill, next to a keyboard. The hands go to the browser and type in, www.medicare.gov. A "404 error, not found" error comes up. Stills of Newspaper headlines: "Sen. Rubio tells a secret: After giving a tax cut to the rich, GOP will cut Social Security and Medicare" – Los Angeles Times, Nov 30, 2017 "GOP eyes post-tax-cut changes to welfare, Medicare and Social Security" – Washington Post, Dec 1, 2017 Picture of target Senator/Representative, with DC office number underneath	VOICEOVER: Social security. Gone. VO: Medicare. No more. VO: Republicans aren't even trying to hide it. VO: Their massive tax giveaway for the rich is going to be paid for by gutting the benefits you've worked hard to earn. VO: And [Senator/Representative _____] is leading that charge. Call [Senator/Representative _____] and tell [him/her] [he/she] better vote "NO" on the Republican tax plan, because Social Security and Medicare belong to you, not to them.
